Sign The Petition now to raise awareness of the threats to birds and mammals in Australia. We have already successfully petitioned federal and state governments to support a range of initiatives to save wildlife. We know it's important to have political will to support these initiatives, so we're asking you to do your bit to help. We believe that you don't have to see a bird or mammal to be a friend to wildlife. As an ordinary person, you can save wildlife. But you'll need to take action. Support us to make a difference We're asking you to make a big difference for wildlife. We're asking you to sign The Petition to make a big difference for the health of birds and mammals in Australia. Sign The Petition If you agree with the principles of the Petition, please sign the Petition by clicking the button below. Your signature counts as official support for this campaign. Please note: You can still add your support and ask people to sign the Petition by sharing this page on Facebook. And we're now on Google+ and Twitter too! What will be changed? The Federal and State Governments have a responsibility to protect the health of birds and mammals in Australia. These responsibilities are stated in the Birds and Mammals Protection Act 1950 and the Nature Conservation Act 1974. The Federal Government also has a responsibility under the Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999. The states also have their own responsibilities. The right to protect wildlife is also given to Indigenous Australians and local communities by law. The Federal Government has already undertaken to improve the effectiveness of its actions to protect birds and mammals. In addition, we also want a commitment to ending trapping and baiting and improving habitat protection. More than 6000 species of birds and mammals are protected under state and federal legislation. Many species are listed as threatened under the federal Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999, and listed 77a5ca646e
